Dear Prospective Resident,

On behalf of the faculty and staff of the Largo Medical Center Orthopaedic Department, we want to thank you for your interest in our residency training program.

The Orthopaedic Residency Training Program at Largo Medical Center is a five-year program with two residents per year. Our residency program challenges each resident to reach their full potential as clinicians, surgeons, and healthcare leaders. This is accomplished through a foundation in education and early/often/diverse surgical experiences. The training program focuses on a graduated philosophy to attain a complete skill set required for orthopaedic surgeons.

EXCELLENCE, EXPECTATIONS & MASTERY

Our program has clear expectations that senior level residents have a clinical and surgical mastery of orthopaedic pathology and treatment. The program is led by orthopaedic surgeons who provide a broad perspective of each subspecialty. Residents who join our team understand this is a rigorous program that strives for excellence in patient care and didactics. Given our high volume of cases, junior and senior level residents are expected to be involved in the clinical and operative decision-making process. Our didactic curriculum enhances the clinical learning environment with resident participation in weekly faculty-provided education conferences, resident didactic presentations, monthly skill labs and subspecialty journal clubs. Residents who graduate from our program are of the highest quality and continue to be selected for competitive fellowships. With the support and resources of HCA Healthcare/USF Morsani College of Medicine GME, our Residents acquire the skills necessary for a successful career and to develop as leaders in the field of orthopaedic surgery.
